(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—President Truman proposed a five-year "prosperity" plan today to produce a 300 billion dollar economy and provide jobs for all without any big boost in taxes.

The chief executive laid his formula before Congress in an annual economic report that bubbled with optimism over the business outlook.

He said the proposal, based on an expanding economy, should eventually balance the budget, start reduction of the national debt, and provide 64 million jobs.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(INS)—President Truman set a national goal today of 61 million civilian jobs in 1950 and outlined a "prosperity" plan to produce 64 million jobs and a 300 billion dollar economy in five years.

He said it could be done without any big boost in taxes.

governmental expenditures, and only a "moderate" increase in some unspecified taxes.

He asserted the national economy will not "be promoted by tax increases so drastic as to stifle business activity."

Mr. Truman recommended a complete overhauling and modernization of the nation's tax structure "at the earliest possible date" to provide a long-range improvement of the federal economy.

Farmers are rejoicing as the ground had become quite dry and water was beginning to become scarce in some sections of the county. It is stated.

Icy conditions, which were noted on trees and shrubbery here yesterday, were not in evidence east and south of the city, Pa. News is informed. One motorist, driving in from the east, stated that he encountered no ice on the trees until he reached Rose Point, and this condition was also not as much in evidence in the direction of Wampum and Ellwood City.

Hundreds Are Made Homeless In Flood Areas

Indiana, Illinois And Parts Of Missouri Are In Flood Belt

WABASH RIVER AT HIGH STAGE

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—(INS)—Rising flood crests made hundreds homeless today in Indiana, Illinois and parts of Missouri and freezing temperatures added to the miseries of victims and rescue workers.

Three drownings have been reported in the affected areas. The rain-swollen waters of the Wabash river and its tributaries—the Little Wabash and the Embarrass rivers—forced the evacuation of an estimated 200 families in Indiana and Illinois and threatened thousands more.

Surpass 1943 Floods
The Indianapolis weather bureau said crests already have surpassed those of 1943, when floods made 18,000 homeless in the state.

Freezing temperatures glazed highways and hampered the efforts of Fifth Army crews, the Red Cross and National Guardsmen to provide disaster aid.

Rain and sleet blanketed the stricken area. Coal supplies dwindled as temperatures stayed 20 to 30 degrees below normal. The crest of the Wabash flood was in east central Illinois, near Danville, where 50 families were evacuated by 5th Army men along Stony creek.

Logansport Isolated
As the Wabash continued to rise in the wake of a three-day downpour, a 28-foot flood crest isolated Logansport, Ind., a city of 25,000.

No Recognition Of China Now

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—United States refusal to intervene with arms or military brainpower against probable Communist conquest of Formosa stands out today as a victory for Gen. George C. Marshall.

The policy urged by Marshall when he returned from his trouble-shooting mission to China and later as secretary of state was crystallized in President Truman's announcement that the U.S. "will not provide military aid or advice to Chinese forces on Formosa."

But the events behind-the-scenes story of events leading up to Mr. Truman's statement reveals that the decision was reached only after the joint chiefs of staff and the State department had convinced themselves that Marshall was right.

Britain Formally Recognizes New China Government

Communist "People's Government In China Is Given Recognition

FIRST WESTERN NATION TO ACT

By THOMAS C. WATSON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Jan. 6.—Britain recognized the Communist "People's Republic" of China today "on the basis of equality, mutual benefit and mutual respect." Simultaneously it severed relations with the Nationalist regime of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek.

The British office declared that the move, taken despite United States refusal to go along, resulted from its belief that the Communists are "now in effective control of by far the greater part of the territory of China."

Accuses Britain
Dr. Cheng Tieh-Hsi, National ambassador to London, immediately accused Britain of "intervention" in the Chinese civil war and said the recognition is "equivalent to burying us while still alive."

He added: "History will say that China received a knockout blow not from foes but from friends and former allies."

Britain is the first western nation to recognize the government led by Moscow-trained Mao Tse-tung. But her action is expected to set off a chain reaction of similar steps by commonwealth nations at or after a conference at Colombo, Ceylon, starting Jan. 9. India recognized the Communists Dec. 30.

Messages Given
A foreign office communique said that Communist Foreign Minister Chou En-Lai was given the following message by British Consul General W. G. C. Graham at Peking:

Note to the chambers of commerce in Miami and L.A. how are you doing? How's the weather down there today? Are you still sending out your pamphlets extolling your sunny skies, with pictures of languorous maidens and sea gulls a-flyin' by. They tell me your weather is spotty with rains that would irk a dog, while out in L.A. the sunshine is all blotted out by the smog. But here in the northland it's lovely, some rain now and then chums, but say, the winter thus far has been lovely, it's touching 36 today.

TAXES GOING UP

Whatever tax program President Truman brings before Congress this year, and whatever Congress does with it, one thing is certain about federal taxes in 1950. They have already gone up for workers covered by the social security system and for their employers.

On January 1 the social security tax rate on covered workers rose from one per cent on wages or salaries up to $3,000 a year to one and one-half per cent. The tax rate on employers took a similar 50 per cent jump. Opposition to increase in social security taxes finally lost out in the last session of Congress.

The Social Security Act, as it was passed by Congress originally in 1936, provided that the tax should rise to one and one-half per cent for both employer and employee in 1940, and eventually to three per cent for each on January 1, 1949. Postponements, voted year by year, saved workers and employers billions of dollars over all those years.

A bill passed by the House last fall and now before the Senate would not only add 11,000,000 more persons to the 39,000,000 on the social security rolls, it would also make the tax apply to the first $3,600 of income instead of $3,000.

Perhaps these relatively small changes in the tax burden, coming gradually, will not have much effect on the economy for some time. But when and if workers earning $3,600 a year or more pay $108 social security tax, and their employers match that outlay, and self-employed persons pay several hundred dollars a year on their own incomes, as now proposed, the impact will not be inconsequential.

NO LABOR LAW REPEAL

Consensus of political opinion in Washington is to the effect that the Taft-Hartley Act will not be repealed or drastically amended during the final session of the Eighty-first Congress. Democratic leaders have advised President Truman his party does not have the necessary votes to bring about repeal or change.

Other members of the party councils believe it would be better political strategy to keep the matter unsettled until the congressional elections in 1950, when it could be made one of the issues of the campaign.

Repeal advocates still insist the party was given a mandate by the voters in 1948 to repeal the law. They say Truman's election and the upset of Republican control of Congress were the result of this demand. To fail to repeal the act would be regarded as a breach of faith with the people, and weaken the party in the forthcoming election.

President Truman's failure to invoke the law in the coal situation indicates he will not give it substance by executive action. Mr. Truman will not admit the effectiveness of the law under any consideration, regardless of the dangers which threaten the nation's economy.

ENOUGH FOOD FOR ALL

The idea that all humanity is doomed eventually to starve as a result of overpopulation and depletion of world resources is one that needs to be debunked, and Dr. Elvin C. Stakman, president of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, has performed a salutary service in this direction.

As he says, the United States has been quietly leading the world in what amounts to a new technological revolution in agriculture. During the Second World War American farmers produced some two billion more bushels of corn than was possible, with considerably more farm manpower, during the First World War.

By using machinery not only are costs reduced but thousands of additional acres formerly devoted to feed crops for work animals are released for human purposes. New hybrid plants, new methods of soil preparation, irrigation and fertilization are doubling, tripling and quadrupling output of old farm acreage and opening up hitherto useless lands for profitable purposes.

In the face of such developments, in order to accept the Malthusian prophecy of doom it is necessary to hold that what we have done can't be done also by the many peoples in many lands who are now hungry or starving. Such a belief is not tenable. Others can do as well. There is no necessity of growth of population to outrun food supplies. Only ignorance, backwardness and blind clinging to the old ways make it possible at all.

DEVELOPMENT OF ALASKA

Development of Alaska is one of the nation's most urgent problems, according to W. E. Warne, Assistant Secretary of the Interior. This farthest north segment of the U. S. which is close to Russia is practically unprotected, he says.

Warne cites familiar figures: Alaska is twice as large as Texas, but has a population of only a little more than 100,000. Its virtually undeveloped natural resources include tremendous virgin forests, mineral wealth, great coal reserves, potential water power and an annual fish crop worth millions of dollars.

War put an end to an earlier plan to develop Alaska agriculturally, which had not proved a success. Lack of markets caused many settlers to return home after several unfruitful years. But the Department of the Interior plans a vast development program to include highways, airports and housing. If Congress provides the money, the sky will be the limit for expenditures.

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. OESTREICHER, INS Foreign Director

An apparent conviction that war has ceased to be "the natural state of mankind" emerged today as a major element in President Truman's annual message on the state of the Union.

It was the still-unforgotten Benito Mussolini who coined this cautious phrase at a time when his two aviator sons were blitz-bombing Bhopals armed only with spears in the bleak Abyssinian desert.

And, of course, it gave Adolf Hitler a great idea in later years when he suddenly discovered it was no longer necessary to issue a formal declaration of war and from that conclusion moved onward to make of Nazi Germany one of the greatest military machines the world has ever known.

It seems likely that in most eras of the world, governments will welcome the stress placed by Mr. Truman on the permanent aspects of democratic principles.

This obviously was in his mind when he spoke in terms of half a century.

Hopeful Theory

And purposefully or otherwise, he has upon a hopeful theory that is gaining ground in many parts of the world and which on occasion at least appears to be more than mere wishful thinking.

In the simplest possible terms, the theory is this: Economic and industrial conditions, coupled with human fatigue, may combine to make another world war impossible for 50 years.

Should this happy condition transpire, the world may never wage another war for at least as far ahead as modern civilization can see. Three reasons are advanced for this hopeful thinking:

1. A half century of peace—unprecedented since the dawn of time—might bring a new concept of civilization whose participants consider war too barbaric a form of settlement to be considered.

2. Scientific developments in agriculture, improved distribution of resources, greater yield and conservation, even when war would eliminate any justification for territorial expansion. In other words, the Hitler "living space" theory would lose all validity.

3. Unbroken peace, coupled with the progress that atomic energy promise for everyone, would bring a material prosperity that no one outside bedlam would wish to endanger.

It is true that the peace since 1945 has been an uneasy one. There has been fighting in China.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

A TRAINING PROBLEM FOR MOTHER

Let us consider ways of "house-breaking" the little child with the least annoyance possible to him and his mother.

For most mothers, training the child before he is three or four to remain dry and unsoiled by day is a long and arduous job. Some mothers who are very serene and have a flair for holding themselves strictly to routine may accomplish complete training of the tot even earlier than three. But most mothers would do well not to start systematic training as early as they do or to set themselves goals as high. The chief difficulty over beginning too early and of setting the goal of complete training too high is that the mother may easily grow discouraged over what seems to her to be slow progress. She may even get so worked up to gain little or no progress for months.

One of the biggest barriers to success by the young mother is her fear of disapproval by "the girls." One or several of her former girl friends, now young mothers are sure to brag of their own early achievements; and they are sure to boast the loudest in the presence of the mother who supposes she is not doing so well at training her own baby.

If only the young mother would be less susceptible to the silly forces and more independent on her own judgment she would escape a vast deal of worry and attain far greater success. She would say to herself: "My baby is my own and his training is my business." True, very early successful training of her baby could save her a lot of work.

The work may not be very little in comparison with the expenditure of "nerves" from fretting over her supposed failure.

Reasonable Way
The wise young mother thinks through the toilet-training problem of her little child in a reasonable way. She takes stock of her own resources and plans accordingly. If she sees no progress from her efforts, in case she has started "good and early," she might be smart to declare a moratorium on the matter with a don't-care attitude for several months or so. Then, with less of a do-or-die spirit, she might resume "regular training" with success.

Calmness, self-control and patience will be her ace cards. She will carefully study the baby's rhythm of elimination and try to get him on the nursery chair or child's toilet seat just when he is most likely to "perform," to get him there goodnaturefully, to win his cooperation. Just the satisfaction to him from the physical relief will help establish in him the right associations. Gentle approvals, pat and "big boy" or "big girl" in affectionate tones will also help. Celebrate successes but don't penalize failures. (My bulletins, "Training Child in Toilet Habits" and "Stubbornness" may be had in a stamped envelope sent me at 235 East 45th Street, New York, N. Y.) Also my bulletin, "Some Psychology of Bedwetting" might have some help for parents of children over five or six.

Two Bills Again!

Washington Calling

(By Marquis Childs)

Cloud On Democratic Horizon

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—The theme song of President Truman and his victorious party is success—bigger and better and as inevitable as the sun and the rain. The theme runs through all the messages and reports heralding the return of Congress and the start of the new year.

A great deal of supporting evidence can be marshalled to show that Truman is in the White House and that, therefore, all is right, if not with the world, then with this country. On this rosy horizon there is, however, one cloud that the official appraisers either have not detected or have chosen to ignore.

That is the drop in the price of many farm products. This rapid drop has stirred a slowly gathering storm of protest in the Midwest. Significantly enough, the protests are coming from the voters in Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Ohio, and Missouri. What more than any other single group to give Truman his '48 victory.

One of the few Democrats who has waked up to the meaning of this protest and threat it contains is Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota. Humphrey has given Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan some strong words of advice about why most, in Humphrey's opinion, be done and done at once.

Minnesota has a highly diversified agriculture, with emphasis on dairy and poultry products. The farm bill passed by the present Congress at its last session put a high support price under corn—the raw material that goes into hogs, poultry and cattle. But that same law, in effect, left hogs, poultry and cattle out from under the support umbrella. Thus the poultry farmer must pay dearly for his feed, thanks to support prices on corn and wheat, while he sells his product in a falling market.

Some of Comment
Humphrey has received hundreds of letters and telegrams from every part of the state. The following are typical:

"Where is egg support you promised us farmers? Sold my eggs today at 20 cents per dozen."

"We just can't buy high-priced machinery with only 20-cent egg prices. Where is government support? If you are not going to support us, we are not going to support you."

This was the day for the president's economic message, then congress gets the weekend to recover, then they get the next budget, then we need a month to recover.

We understand the "Fair Deal" budget will be $42,000,000,000 and if that isn't fair enough it can be expanded.

For those not familiar with the metric system, three cyphers after a number are thousands, six are millions, nine are billions and 12 are just around the corner.

We still have the highest standard of living in the world but we aren't getting it at bargain rates any more.

In fact it may turn out that John Lewis was smart to keep his men from working more than two or three days a week. Any more than that and you're working for the internal revenue department.

All I know is that after the last visit of the tax man I switched my theme to "I've got a lovely bunch of coconuts."

A recent act of legislature changed the requirements for reporting automobile accidents. In the event of an accident no report is necessary unless property damage to ANY ONE VEHICLE INVOLVED amounts to $100.00 or more, or if there is personal injury or a death involved. The law concerning the reporting of accidents involving a parked car has not been changed and must be reported regardless of the amount of property damage if the owner or custodian cannot be located at the time of the accident.

Would Be Ambassador

(By HENRY McLEMORE)

Whether or not the United States should recognize the Chinese Communist regime of Mao Tse-tung (who sounds like a bare-footed kicking University of Hawaii leftback, to me), is something for Congress to decide.

But if Congress does elect to look at China through red-colored glasses, I would like to apply, here and now, for the job of Ambassador to Peiping.

Qualifications Are Scant

My qualifications are scant. I am the first one to admit that. Ambassadors usually are rich. Very few of them repair their own flats on the road, buy refrigerators on the installment plan, or suffer because they are not able to buy their wives fur coats.

I am not rich. My wife is lucky to get a cloth coat with a collar made of dubious fur, I always do my own vulcanizing, even when it's raining, and if it were not for the installment plan we'd still be living almost the same way that cavemen and cavewomen did.

Ambassadors usually have a habit of kicking in $25,000 or so to the war chest of the party whose head names them as ambassadors. I have never given so much as a penny to either the Democratic or Republican war chests—indeed, if I had $25,000 I wouldn't care who was president. I'd be living in style on some little island, which politics reached only by occasional steamer.

I have no knee britches, and I don't have a turtleneck sweater, all standard equipment for ambassadors. Neither do I have a daughter of marriageable age who is photogenic and anxious to prove it.

But I do have one qualification for Peiping, seat of Mao Tse-tung's government.

Great Love For Peiping

I have a great love for Peiping. In many ways it is to me the loveliest city in the world. To me it comes close to offering more than any other city on earth.

I'd like to spend two, three, or four years there. No matter who is in charge, a man would have to be without almost any sensitivity to come away without benefit.

It is a town of a culture so old that it settles about you like a cloak. A week in Peiping is better than four years in a university. A week there teaches one who wants to listen that only a few things are steadfast—the hills, the ocean, the plains, and old, old cities. Men come and go with each day, but certain things are eternal.

It does something to a man to eat in a restaurant where Marco Polo dined, and there is not one such restaurant in Peiping, but several. It does a man good to know that he is walking the streets which centuries have trod, because it teaches him how small and unimportant he, or any man, is.

Yes, Mr. Truman, name me to Peiping when and if the time comes to select an ambassador. You may not be doing Peiping a favor, but you'll be doing me one.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

Shirley Temple, recently divorced, employs a guard to watch her home at night.

"With only a couple of women in the house I feel that I must have this protection for the baby," she said.

Since her separation from her husband she has lived alone with 22-month-old Linda Sue and a housekeeper—at kidnappings and burglaries are not unusual in the movie-capital.

In New York a millionaire industrialist committed suicide a couple of weeks ago.

He was divorced from his wife, and the children's custody had been awarded to the mother.

This wealthy man was a playboy and a regular in the nightclubs.

He was known for his "good-fellowship" and conviviality.

But when the police investigated his death, they found a note which said "I have nothing to live for."

So many people seem to think that wealth, power, fame are the essentials of happiness.

Nothing could be further from the truth.

You know how you anticipated your Christmas dinner.

For days you pictured all its delights.

You tasted each bite of turkey, each mouthful of that delicious mince pie in anticipation.

Then you sat down to eat the meal.

The eating was fun—just what you had expected. Each course was a delight. It was just as you had pictured it in your mind.

Then you got up from the table, full of food.

What if someone had asked you to have some more turkey, some more mince pie just then when you were hardly able to waddle to the nearest easy chair.

Perish the thought!

Well, wealth, power, fame are quite a bit that way.

The anticipation is fine. And, just like the eating of the meal, the acquisition of wealth, power, and fame are most enjoyable and exciting.

Then you are full. Then comes the process of digestion.

That's where the trouble starts. If you eat too much, you'll have indigestion—if you eat too much too often, you get ulcers.

A modicum of wealth, of power, of fame is all right. Too little of those things isn't good for the human being, just as too little food is weakening and may lead to illness and starvation.

It's easy enough to tell when you haven't enough. You are hungry for more. The pangs of poverty are very similar to the pangs of hunger.

But how can you tell when you have too much?

It's easy enough to know when

Presents New Housing Bill

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(INS)—Chairman Maybank (D-S-C) of the senate housing committee today introduced a Truman-backed bill designed to provide more homes for middle income families.

The measure provides for creation of a new government corporation to promote housing construction by non-profit cooperatives. The new agency would be known as the National Mortgage Corporation for Housing Cooperatives.

The aim of the bill is to encourage construction of dwellings for families with incomes in the $2,400 to $4,400 bracket who can pay rents of $52 to $62 a month by attracting private capital into the cooperative housing field.

Members of city council met informally in the city building today and listened to fire-hose salesmen who have presented bids to the city, which plans to buy several thousand feet of 2½ and 1½-inch hose for the fire bureau.

The salesmen were given a chance to display their hose and recite its good quality.

The meeting was held in what is known as a caucus room instead of council chambers.

TRUMAN TO SPEAK

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(INS)—President Truman will speak at commencement exercises of the University of Missouri at Columbia, Mo., on June 9.

The president accepted the invitation of Dr. F. A. Mielebush, president of the university, to attend a special convocation and accept a degree.

The expression "key to the city" arose in ancient times when cities were walled and entrance was through huge gates. The custom grew of giving distinguished visitors the key to the gates of the city in token of the fact that they were welcome guests of the city.

Next Decade May Be Video Age, Says Babson

By ROGER W. BABSON
(Copyright—1950—Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.)

NEW YORK CITY, Jan. 6.—The next decade may be known by future historians as the Video Age, the "V" stands for television. This has already become a "big business."

It is estimated that 10 million people watched our last national political convention on TV. Double that number saw Truman inaugurated. How many local fans watched the big league games this summer and fall is anybody's guess. People who never have been to a baseball game, football game, boxing bout or set foot inside a theatre, have become ardent home fans.

The folks who need this kind of diversion most—rural dwellers—cannot yet get TV in their homes. This is due both to the limited number of stations permitted by the FCC and to the present limits of TV broadcast radius. This will ultimately be remedied. In fact, by the year's end, the networks hope to anticipate nearly three million sets in use. TV manufacturers, already beginning to count their 1949 profits, believe the cash registers will sing to the merry tune of a good $500,000,000 plus.

TV and Amusements
Practically every survey, conducted thus far to measure the "looking" audience, indicates that people listen less now to regular radio. The day may well come, and soon, when A. M. radio will be as obsolete as the old crystal sets and earphones are today.

The corner movie house is already feeling the pinch. Within the next half dozen years we shall be able to view good movies right in our own living-rooms, and without the present eyestrain. It has already been reported that Broadway's box office receipts nose-dive on Milton Berle night.

Sports promoters are worried, too. Wrestling, boxing, baseball and football enthusiasts are forsaking the arena and ball field for the home video screen. College athletic directors are especially concerned. Intercollegiate football is a most expensive sport. Advertisers have found that with the same number of sets, television ads pull four times the sales of ordinary advertisements.

Television Pros and Cons
Schools and colleges have found as a result of the comic book, picture magazines, talking movies and the radio that our youth even now cannot read comprehensively. They have become allergic to the printed page. Our children have also forgotten how to amuse themselves. Instead of developing into active participants, they are becoming passive bystanders. They are becoming sluggish and lazy in this matter of their amusement. This is very unfortunate.

Television, however, has a tremendous opportunity to instruct and amuse constructively. Television might well reestablish the home as a family meeting place. Video could become a potent force in helping to lower juvenile delinquency and crime rates, it could become a helping hand in lowering divorce rates. Television could bring to the home the broadening cultural experiences of seeing great paintings in a museum, or witnessing great experiments in the laboratory. Video could actually let us see great historic events in the making. Think of what your reaction might have been to a telecast of the Battle of Dunkirk or the Invasion of Okinawa.

Television Is Dynamic
On the other hand, television can develop a race of idiots. It's already on its merry way toward this goal. It can easily condition its lookers to something even less idiotic than pie throwing! What kind of future race of mankind do we want? The answer lies with parents, schools and churches. We can't afford to let unprincipled "entertainers" ruin America. Television is dynamic.

Chevrolet For 1950
On Display Saturday
Automatic Transmission Feature Of New Cars At Keystone-Chevrolet Company

Chevrolet for 1950 announces a first in the low price field, with the installation of the automatic transmission. The fine new car may be seen Saturday in the salesrooms of the Keystone-Chevrolet company at 210 West Washington street.

Powerglide, which is the exclusive development of Chevrolet motor division, took research covering the entire postwar period and is optional at slight extra cost. Presented for the first time too, is the Bel Air, a luxurious six passenger coupe possessing the swank of the convertible with the practicality of the solid top.

Improvements on the 1950 models are many, including: A new "Power Jet" carburetor, eliminating the lean periods in gasoline feed; large exhaust valve capacity; new body colors; new two tone interiors; redesigned radiator grille; higher stronger bumper guards and redesigned tail lamps.

Numerous other improvements will be readily observed on the 1950 Chevrolet which may be seen at the West Washington street show-rooms on Saturday and throughout next week.

Western Operators File Charges With NLRB Against Lewis

Join Other Coal Producers In Filing Unfair Labor Charges Against John L.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(INS)—Western coal operators joined other producers Thursday in filing unfair labor practice charges against John L. Lewis and demanding a government injunction to end the three-day mine work week.

The Illinois Coal Operators Association, representing 44 companies as far west as Colorado and Wyoming, filed the charges with the National Labor Relations Board.

The Illinois group thus aligned itself with the Southern Coal Producers' Association and northern operators in charging that the United Mine Workers are attempting to coerce mine owners into accepting a new wage contract by instituting the three-day week.

About 85 million tons of coal produced in a year is represented by the Illinois association. The group includes companies operating in Colorado, Wyoming, Utah, West Virginia, Ohio and other states.

Robert N. Denham, NLRB general counsel, referred the charges to the board's Baltimore regional office for investigation.

Denham informed the Illinois group that he is "seriously looking into" all of the charges brought against Lewis and the union by various segments of the mining industry.

Seven And Half Cent Coin Asked
WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(INS)—Congress has been asked to create a seven and one-half cent coin as a weapon to combat increasing living costs.

Sen. Downey (D) Calif. introduced a bill late yesterday calling for such a coin.

Advocates said the argument will be made that if such a coin existed, prices of small articles which are boosted from a nickel to a dime would go only to 7½ cents.

Liquor retailers must obtain local licenses before being granted state licenses in Illinois and Georgia.

tacle Here Soon

BLIND FUND WILL RECEIVE RECEIPTS

At a meeting held Thursday evening in The Castleton, plans were projected for a big automobile show, which will be conducted here later in the winter, under the sponsorship of the New Castle Lions Club, with the members of the New Castle Automobile Dealers Association cooperating in all the details.

At the meeting of the auto dealers association last evening, Chairman, Dr. A. L. Borland of the Lions Club, and Co-Chairman N. N. Jaquish were in attendance. They will join with the dealers in promoting and conducting the show, and will name committees to work with the committees from the auto dealers, who were announced by President W. Clayton Bryan, of the Automobile Dealers Association.

Lions To Benefit

A nominal admission fee will be charged to the exhibition, and all receipts will be turned over to the Lions club for their work among the blind of the county.

The committees announced by President Bryan, are as follows: General chairman, Elmer W. Reiber, assisted by Sam Kreiling, and John Scott.

Display and concessions—Sander Rubenson and J. R. Rick. Advertising—Sam Kreiling, Quentin Craft and Louis Hazen. Program—W. Clayton Bryan, T. E. Chambers and Louis Hazen. Decorations—Warren Morgan and James Snyder.

Arrangements—William Agnew, Doyle Birney and Edwin S. Ferrell. Prizes and entertainment—John Scott and John Travers.

At last evening's meeting, the various dealers drew for spaces, and the preliminary details were completed. Announcement of the dates and other arrangements will take place in the near future, it was stated.

Chicago Man Inherits Four Dancing Girls

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—(INS)—A suburban housewife decided today that four Egyptian dancing girls inherited by her husband could find nothing interesting to do in Chicago.

The girls had better "stay where they are," said Mrs. Beatrice Janus whose husband, Christopher, was bequeathed the quartet by his late uncle, Jan Z. Aristophron.

Janus' 36-year-old wife added: "I don't think they would be happy here. They're not used to city life and they don't speak English. The only thing they would do is baby-sitting—and they're too glamorous for that."

Janus, who made headlines when he bought Hitler's bullet-proof car last year, said he was "fascinated" by the idea of bringing the girls to America, but added:

"My wife is very tolerant, but I don't think she would hold them too."

He said the girls are housed comfortably at present on his late uncle's 9,000-acre farm near Alexandria, where they have made eager preparations for a trip abroad.

Under Egyptian law, Janus is responsible for everything on his share of the estate including workers and their families. His uncle owned an even dozen dancing girls, but Janus is entitled only to four since he inherited one-third of the property.

Dinning Sisters

Harmony Soured

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—(INS)—The harmony of the Dinning Sisters, radio singing trio, was soured today by the eldest sister's charge that too many "sisters"—and brothers-in-law—spoil the act.

Mrs. Lucille Dinning Robertson, of Hollywood, filed a circuit court suit in Chicago demanding that her sisters, Virginia and Jean, and Howard E. Mack, her brother-in-law, give an accounting of the trio's earnings since 1945.

She also asked an injunction to prevent anyone else from appearing with the pair as "The Dinning Sisters," charging that a fourth sister, Dolores Dinning Pinson, and Mrs. Jayne McGaney Bunden have appeared as members of the trio.

Mack became manager of the group in May, 1945.

Ukrainians Observe Christmas Saturday

Holy Trinity Orthodox Parishioners Celebrate According To Julian Calendar

Members of Ukrainian Holy Trinity Orthodox church, Rose avenue, will celebrate Christmas Saturday in accordance with the Nativity date of the Julian calendar.

The observance of Christmas lasts three days with Sunday being set aside as the day, honoring Mary and Joseph. The feast of St. Stephen, the first martyr, will be observed Monday.

Customs and reminiscences of Ukrainian tradition will be seen again when young people of the parish sing Christmas carols such as "Cohpredvechni," "Nebo I Zemla" and "Na Nebu Zerkka" at the homes of the parishioners.

The vigil of Christmas is being observed today with strict fasting and abstinence in preparation for the coming of Christ. The "Svety Vecheer," a supper of advent foods, prayers and singing traditional hymns are characteristic among the Ukrainians.

Rev. Fr. Stephen Musychuk, pastor, will offer masses Saturday at 7:45 a.m. and Sunday at 8:30 a.m. in the church.

Salesman Is Held For Woman's Death

Faye Emerson To Get Divorce

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—(INS)—Actress Faye Emerson is on her way by plane to Mexico City today to give Elliott Roosevelt his third divorce.

The blonde star of stage, screen and television told newsmen that her reasons for the divorce "were formulated long ago and are very private." She said that terms of a settlement have already been agreed upon, and added:

"Both Elliott and I are sorry our marriage had to turn out this way."

Before boarding a plane at LaGuardia Field, Miss Emerson uttered a vigorous "positively not" to a newsmen's question as to whether a wrist-slashing episode at the Roosevelt Hyde Park home in Christmas, 1948, had anything to do with the divorce.

Adult Education Program Offering Nursing Courses

Police Officer In City Retires At 65

But Retirement At That Age Not Mandatory On Other City Employees

Only employee of the city of New Castle who must go on pension at the age of 65 is a city policeman.

According to a city ordinance, it is mandatory he retire from the "force" at the age of 65.

When he arrives at the age of 60, he must receive sanction to work until he is 65.

Upon retiring he receives $100 a month, although the system as originally set up calls for half a patrolman's pay.

However, there never has been sufficient money in the police pension fund to pay one-half of the salary.

The police maintain their own system, the only point being ruled by the city is that an officer must quit when he's 65.

Not so long ago one detective at 65 had to go on pension because of the existing ordinance, despite his claim of being in good physical condition.

The firemen have a different system.

It is ruled by state law which provides that he does not have to quit when he is 65. When he retires he receives one-half his salary.

City employees who belong to the Officers and Employees Retirement system, who have 20 years service (not continuous) can retire at 60 and receive one-half of their pay.

However, they are not compelled to retire when they are 65.

Truman Nor People Control Congress

Dr. Pollock Tells New York Audience Federal Government 'Out Of Control'

Neither President Truman nor the people can control Congress, Dr. James K. Pollock, new president of the American Political Science Association, told the association at its recent meeting in New York. Dr. Pollock, a former New Castle man, was elected president of the association.

Dr. Pollock, a member of the Hoover Commission, said the federal government is "out of control," "over centralized, disorganized and frightfully wasteful."

He told the delegates that the report of the Hoover Commission had received widespread support but urged that more and more of the recommendations be put into effect in order to curb reckless spending and put some controls upon the government.

It took James Hilton only four days to write his best-selling "Good-bye, Mr. Chips."

The President then brushed aside a question about United States possession of a "hydrogen atomic bomb." He said he could make no comment at all.

"Assignment; America"

By INEZ ROBB

(Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.)

(Distributed By International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—(INS).—On a hunch that the first 49 or 50 years of any century are the worst, I recently called upon Miss Myra Kingsley, the eminent seeress and lady astrologer, with what seemed a reasonable request.

"Kindly lift the veil from the future," I asked, "and give me a fill-in on what the stars in their orbits foretell for the United States in the next fifty years."

Miss Kingsley gave a low moan. "Land's sake! surely it can't be that bad!" I exclaimed.

Miss Kingsley, plunged in styan gloom, opined that it could.

1952 Year Of Crisis

"Nineteen fifty-two is the year of crisis," she said glumly. "If we can squeak by that without war—"

"With you-know-whom?" I queried.

She nodded solemnly. "They get worse all the time," Miss Kingsley said meaningfully. "And people wouldn't want to read that."

The Miss Kingsley kinda brightened up a bit.

But you really can't cast the history of any nation for the next fifty years without knowing who their respective leaders will be, and reading their horoscopes, too."

"You mean we and they might get some other head men, and things would be different?" I asked.

"Yes," said the delphic sibyl of the upper East Side. "We can always hope for that."

Well, it seemed a rather slim hope, what with Mr. Truman showing every sign of running again in 1952 and the Russians claiming they have just perfected a serum that will keep Mr. Stalin going indefinitely.

Feeling Gloomy

So I have been going around feeling almost as gloomy as the seeress over the last half of the twentieth century. However, it is always darkest just before the dawn and a ray of hope is contained in two items in the morning newspaper.

In the first place, Prof. Arnold Toynbee, the eminent English historian, is reported in my morning Gazette as predicting that the cold war will last for an awfully long time, inflicting people with peptic ulcers, gastric disturbances and psychic tremors, but that a shooting war, which is so much more fatal, is not in the cards in the ensuing half century.

Mr. Toynbee believes the Russians will spend the next fifty years consolidating their gains, developing their great natural resources and barking.

Not Going To Bite

But the professor, a lofty intellect in the Einstein league, doesn't believe the bear is going to bite. He doesn't think either the Russians or the Americans will attack each other in the twentieth century.

My viewpoint will probably be attacked as both narrow and selfish, but as I plan to be quite dead in the twenty-first century, what the two big boys do in that far-off day is purely of academic interest to me now. All I hope is that the two don't rat on the professor in this century.

The other item of gladness news as we round the far turn is the announcement that men are once more the numerically dominant sex in the United States. Goody, goody!

Despite all the gloomy wartime prophecies that the United States would soon have a vast surplus of women on its hands, nature knew best all the time and has once more redressed the balance handsomely.

There are now one million more gents than ladies in the United States, and the ratio is growing. The prospect that we girls might eventually have to kill each other to get a man seems remote. And for them, they will quit acting so cocky and come around with their hats and a box of candy in their hands.

No war for five decades and enough men to go around! Who can ask for anything more? It's just possible, after all, that the first forty-nine or fifty years of any century, even this, are the worst.

Anyway, Happy New Year, everybody! Happy half century!

Boy Scouts Show Membership Gain

Fifty Per Cent Increase In 1949 Raises Total Council Membership To 1,208

Membership in the Lawrence County Council Boy Scouts of America showed a 50 per cent increase in the year 1949.

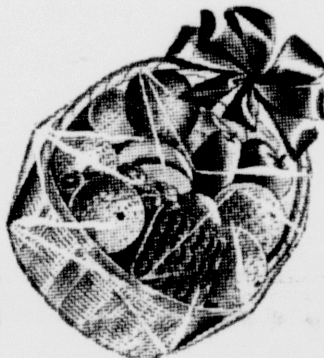

Scout Executive Thomas Allen announced the figures today and also stated that 1949 was one of the most successful years ever experienced by the local council. The current registered, active membership is 1,208 scouts.

Plans are now underway for two forthcoming activities in the scout program. Anniversary Week will be celebrated February 6-12.

Council President Thomas Padon has appointed a Jamboree committee to meet soon and make arrangements for the National Jamboree to be held at Valley Forge, June 30 to July 6. This is the second national jamboree in the history of scouting. More than 40,000 scouts and scouters from all over United States are expected to attend. In addition, many invitations have been extended to scouts of foreign nations.

In the United States in 1948, $4,147,000,000 was spent for tobacco.

Truman's Formosa Policy Assailed And Defended

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6—(INS)—Senate Republican leader Wherry accused President Truman of "abject surrender" to Communists in the far east.

Wherry charged that the President's "hands-off" Formosa policy may go down in history as an "ignominious Munich day."

The Republican leader declared that the President's statement that the United States will send no military aid to enable Nationalist China to hold Formosa against the Communists "is an invitation to the Moscow-directed Communists to come and get it." Wherry declared:

"America's prestige and leadership has struck a new low. The President's whole course on China has had only one effect and that is to cause the freedom-loving people of Asia to lose faith in their historic friends and allies—the United States."

Other comment: Sen. Connally (D) Tex., "I am in thorough agreement with the statement by President Truman with respect to Formosa. Any other course would involve us in a very serious and dangerous situation."

Sen. Bricker (R) Ohio, said—"It seems inconsistent to me. We are interested in fighting Communism everywhere but in China and the United States, although it is the same force in China that it is in Europe."

Chairman Kee (D) W. Va., of the House Foreign Affairs committee—"I oppose any use of our armed forces for the defense of Formosa at this time. I believe the use of armed forces would be extremely dangerous in the present condition of world affairs and would very likely lead to involvement in another war."

Rep. Eaton (R) N. J., top ranking minority member and former chairman of the House Foreign Affairs committee—"I'm glad the administration has made an understandable statement of its policy toward China and Formosa. As for Formosa the administration's policy is to let the tail go with the hide."

Two Near Death After Shooting

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 6—(INS)—Frank Viney, 76, and his wife Elizabeth, 72, of Pittsburgh, lay near death today in two city hospitals after Mrs. Viney apparently shot her husband and attempted suicide.

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

Efficiency's Not Always Best

Mrs. Stone soon would be going to the hospital to have her third baby. The doctor had told her not long before that five-year-old George should have his tonsils out. So it seemed the intelligent and efficient thing to arrange for George's operation while she was in the hospital.

But she'd been thinking of a good bit about the adjusting of a good child to the new baby. George, particularly, seemed to be a bit disturbed at the idea. Mrs. Stone tried to put herself in George's place—a hard thing to do. Nonetheless, she probably got pretty near the truth when she decided that to be sent off to the hospital and not to have mother around when you were feeling miserable would intensify any negative and disturbing feeling George might have about the new baby.

In many situations, the efficient way, the "neat" solution, isn't the best. One needs to take into consideration first and foremost, the way individuals involved are likely to feel. In the last analysis, feelings and relationships should have priority over efficiency.

KANE, Pa., Jan. 6.—(INS)—Ray Anderson, observer at the weather bureau station in Kane, reported today that tulips are up two inches, that big night crawlers (fishing worms) are being brought to the surface of the ground by rains, and that there are premature signs of spring all over the place.

Ray, who has clocked some pretty low January temperatures in his time, said highs up to 60 this year have been recorded at Pennsylvania's so-called "ice box".

The Nobel Prize was established by the will of Swedish chemist Alfred B. Nobel, who invented dynamite. He died in 1896.

IN THE OPEN

Leadens, cheerless skies and dripping thickets greeted me as I set out for my first creek-side foray of the young January. The valley stream blustered along at a good clip, completely clear of the encroaching ice which usually hemmed it in at the turn of the year. The ringing melody of the Carolina wren echoed through the hills and a noisy gang of crows rummaged about in an abandoned stand of corn.

Just off the path stood a dying locust tree which has reached the exact stage of decay required to nourish properly a colony of small bracket fungi. There were hundreds of the brackets climbing the trunk. The effect was as of a miniature sky-scraper apartment house, with awnings open above every window.

Keep Out the Weather

I did not stop to look, but the chances are good that many of those "apartments" were really occupied. Lady beetles, and spiders, and other small fry of the winter woods have learned that these bracket awnings really keep out the weather. I did notice a downy woodpecker at work on this housing project later in the morning. He was busily evicting the tenants, probably for non-payment of rent. The warm brown mulch of the November woodlands has started its slow return to the loamy soil which gave it birth. Under the combined action of wind and water and decay the tall weed stalks are falling flat to join the leaf mulch in a soggy ferment which will become rich black loam by the time the blood root shows its waxy face under the trees.

I splashed through a small swampy area, where the rotting surface of a partially submerged log displayed a good crop of small puff-balls, filled with brown "smoke." Ripe puff-balls to the outdoorsman are just like wet paint to the curious. They have to be tested.

Installing Roadblocks

A pair of trappers had divided a mile stretch of the creek and were busy installing roadblocks to embarrass the valley muskrats. I trailed along while one of these peltymen picked out the fresh runways and made his sets. He drove the trap stakes straight down into the muck bottom of the runway.

Each trap carried a metal tag with the owner's name and address, but there is a heavy loss through petty thievery. There must be a whole company of trappers working this creek. Their sets surrounded every likely area. I wonder how any muskrat who shows his face during the trapping season can escape the sudden vicious snap of those steel jaws.

During January I keep an eye out for the prairie horned larks, who usually send a sizeable delegation to a flat stretch of upland on a neighboring farm. Leaving the trappers in the creek bottom I drove up to the high country in search of these visitors.

Horned Larks

Sure enough, the flock of brownish birds actively feeding along the ground were my old friends the horned larks. They were quite tame, running about over the ground and rarely flying more than a few feet when disturbed. Once I scared the whole flock aloft. They swooped around in a wide circle, low above the ground, and came right back to the starting point, landing all about me. The horned lark is a walker. He don't hop around like the sparrows. In a half-inch of light snow his running gait makes him look like he's skidding around on a tiny toboggan. The curious feathered tufts or "horns" give this bird its name. The larks are a cheery attraction in the winter country's side and well worth acquaintance.

As I drove along the roadway through the unseasonable January drizzle I passed the pitiful remains of two cottontails who had started the new year by perishing beneath the wheels of passing cars. Hungry crows were scavenging about these carcasses, just as in 1949. The big black fellows took off when I approached, made a wide circle overhead, and in the rear-view mirror I could see them heading back to continue their feast.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

When Red Smith, of American Airlines, was on his way from London to the flying field, a careless pedestrian darted in front of the taxicab. The driver swerved sharply and managed to miss him, giving the side of his cab a resounding slap with his free hand as he did so. Smith unscrambled himself in the back seat and asked, "what was the big idea of that slap?"

"Simple, guv'nor," explained the cabbie, who probably studied Freud in his off-hours. "If I'd sounded my horn he'd have known I saw him and he'd ignore me and go on the same way next time. When I banged my cab, however, he thought he'd been hit—and he won't forget it in a hurry."

A man called up a drugstore and asked for a sleeping pill five feet long. "A pill like that would make you sleep six months," scoffed the druggist. "So what?" said the man. "I'm an Eskimo."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(INS)—Congress may soon look into charges that nationwide gambling syndicates are exerting a growing influence on American life.

After it is baked, turn it over and pour in filling when it is completely or partly cooled.

County Balance Above Estimate

Lawrence County Lives Within Budget For Year 1949—Starts Year With Balance

OTHER EVENTS IN COURT HOUSE

Lawrence county begins the year 1950 with a healthy balance on hand, the report of County Controller Andrew M. Dodds shows. During 1949 the county not only lived within its income but actually wound up with some $75,000 more than it started the year with.

The balance in the general fund as of January 1 is $226,477.64 according to Mr. Dodds' figures. On January 1, 1949, the balance on hand was $170,885.59. The increased balance is due to heavier receipts and spending less than was estimated.

The Institution Fund has $9,945.41 starting the year, and the Liquid Fuels tax fund $158,015.53. The Sinking Fund has $109,136.30 in it, more discussion of which will be found farther down in this article.

The Suspend Account, which has money due various political sub-divisions has $2103. The Commissioners' Land Sale Fund, which also must be divided among the various divisions of the county has $50,511; the Rent Account, also to be divided $40,084.79; and the School and Road Fund has $2161.67.

To revert to the Sinking Fund. This fund contains $109,136.30, most of which is earmarked for certain commitments. Among these commitments is the bonded indebtedness of the county.

As of January 1 the bonded indebtedness, all highway bonds, amounted to $67,000 plus interest. On July 1, $35,000 of these bonds will be paid off and on July 1, 1951, the balance of $32,000 will be paid, clearing the county of bonded indebtedness. The money to pay the bonds is ready whenever the bonds come due. Because they are serial bonds they cannot be paid except upon the dates specified.

Presently the business of building the annual budget is under way. This year will see a slight increase in current expenses it is thought with one major capital outlay planned. This will be the erection of the new juvenile detention home.

It is estimated the cost of this will be about $70,000, but the balance on hand more than takes care of that.

In short, the county of Lawrence lived entirely within its current income during 1949, and had over $70,000 left. Washington, D.C., please note.

DOG TAG DEAD LINE

While dog tags are due on January 1 of each year, there is a period of fifteen days permitted by the Dog Enforcement officer before he begins prosecution for failure to license dogs.

The dead line this year is January 15. Thus far there have been less than 800 dog tags issued. After January 15, unlicensed dogs will be open season for the dog enforcement man.

State Tuberculosis Group Changes Name

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 6.—The Pennsylvania Tuberculosis and Health society is the new name of the Pennsylvania Tuberculosis society, it is announced by Arthur M. Dewees, executive secretary.

The change in name has been approved by Common Pleas Court No. 1 in Philadelphia and the new name has been registered with the Department of State of the Commonwealth.

This is the second change of name since the society, the oldest voluntary citizen tuberculosis organization in the United States, was formed in 1892 as the Pennsylvania Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis. In 1920 that name was changed to the Pennsylvania Tuberculosis society.

Titans Use Only 5 Men; Fouls Provide Margin

Perhaps the 1949-50 towering Titans do not have a date with destiny but last night they did what no Westminster team has been able to accomplish in the past three years.

The Blue and White cage artists downed the University of Pittsburgh basketball team, 49 to 38, at Pittsburgh.

For the Washbaugh passers it was the seventh win in nine starts and the first victory notch in the year 1950. Pitt now has only one win in four starts.

The victors also established some kind of a local record or precedent by playing the whole game with only five men. Each of the "iron-men" hit the scoring column.

For the Washbaugh passers it was the seventh win in nine starts and the first victory notch in the year 1950. Pitt now has only one win in four starts.

The Titans committed only 10 personal fouls, six of which were converted. They won the game at the foul line by eging 19 points on 28 free throws.

Next week Westminster takes on three opponents in four days. Geneva plays at New Wilmington on Wednesday, Baldwin-Wallace will offer a stiff test at Cleveland on Friday, and Saturday night the Bethany Bisons will seek to end the long home winning streak of the Blue and White.

In the preliminary game Westminster Jayvees beat the Pitt Freshmen 48 to 46. Mike Zernich, former Aliquippa star had 15 for the Pitts. Don Myers and Gerry Sybert had 13 each for the young Titans.

Mike Cannavino Will Meet With Baseball Fans Tonight To Talk Over 1950 Season

The future of New Castle in the Mid-Atlantic baseball league will be discussed at the Hotel New Penn at 7 o'clock tonight by Mike Cannavino, president and general manager of the Nats with all interested fans.

The meeting tonight is open to all fans and persons interested in the operation of the Nats. Three other cities are bidding for the New Castle franchise—Niagara Falls, Weirton, West Va., and Charleroi. Cannavino said last night, "I want to stay in New Castle. I think this is a great baseball town, and we intend to put a winning team on the field next summer. Washington can be relied upon to give us plenty of help."

Wants Local Interest Cannavino is of the opinion that the team should have some local interest back of it. New Castle fans should be made to realize that this is their team, and should give it their support. "We hope to profit by the mistakes of the first two years, and will strive to put a team on the field in 1950 that will be in the thick of the pennant fight. We have gotten away to a bad start for two years, this will not happen again," Cannavino said emphatically.

Good Nucleus When pinned down as to a few of the players returning here the "Little Napoleon" had this to say: "We will have Herman Kiel, Tommy Millich, Eugene Bilo, Herb Churchill and Frank Wagner off the 1949 team as a nucleus, and possibly, Mike Giardullo and Bob Cook, two young hurlers who gave promise last summer. We are definitely after a playing-manager who can cover first or catch. We have made a fine offer to Youngstown for veteran catcher "Shine" Richardson. Jim Acton seems to have the inside track for the managers job. Acton is a big lad 6 foot 3 and weighs over 200 pounds, he is currently a physical education instructor at Springfield, Mo. He hits a long ball, and is a fine first sacker and can catch. He has been associated with the Yankee chain."

Large Drawing Area New Castle the fourth largest city in the Middle-Atlantic league has a tremendous drawing power from over 100,000 people and there is no good reason why organized baseball cannot be made a big thing here. Vandergrift with a population of something like 15,000 can support a team, why not New Castle?

Any fan having any ideas on how to operate the club here and any ideas how New Castle can become a threat in the league are asked to attend the meeting tonight. New Castle wants organized baseball it is believed.

Cannavino got into town last night around 6 o'clock and immediately went into conference with a few local interested persons and also spoke on WKST for a ten-minute period, explaining to the fans what to expect this year.

Must Act At Once New Castle's P. J. Flaherty Memorial Field is one of the most beautiful parks in the league and it would be a shame to have it idle this summer.

New Castle fans can give their answer tonight to Cannavino. The future of organized baseball in this city rests with the action taken here this evening. You Mr. and Mrs. Fan are invited. It will be an open meeting.

New Castle High At Ambridge For Sectional Tilt

Red Hurricanes Anxious To Atone For Defeat By Farrell, Bridgers Tough

New Castle High basketball team will go to Ambridge tonight for a Section Three battle, and will be anxious to get started in the section win column, after losing to Farrell here Tuesday night.

Ambridge has a crackerjack team this year, although losing to Sharon Tuesday, 52 to 49. New Castle didn't do too badly against the big Farrell team, lacking only a man able to keep pace with the whirlwind dervish, Don Reed, who had 24 points.

Ambridge has three veterans who will make it rough this year, Tom Punjock, Bob Harmotta and Bernie Janicki. Against Sharon Janicki had 17 points, Harmotta had 11 and so did Punjock.

Same Lineup To Prevail Coach George Thomas will probably start the same team that began the Farrell game—with Dick Lewis and John Sansone at the forwards, Reed at center, and Chuck McDewitt and Ray Latsko at the guards, although Joe McGary played a bangup game against Farrell when inserted in the lineup, and may get a starting nod.

Other Section Three games tonight will have Sharon at Beaver Falls, and Ellwood City at Farrell, with Aliquippa being idle.

New Castle will be back on the home court next Tuesday meeting Beaver Falls High.

Final Accounting Of Banquet Tonight

William G. Sands, general chairman of the recent New Castle high football testimonial banquet, asks that all clubs and organizations who have not as yet turned in their tickets and money, do so tonight at the Eagles at 8 o'clock.

"We are very anxious to have a final accounting of the banquet" Sands said.

Rod And Gun Club To Meet Monday

Ellwood City-Wampum Rod & Gun club will meet at the members club house along the Ellwood City-Wampum highway at 8 p. m. January 9. Darl Allen, newly-elected president, will be in charge of the meeting. The program will include a display of motion pictures of an Alaskan trip taken by New Castle sportsmen, according to secretary Harold McKim.

Denver Again Trims Packers

(By International News Service)

Lo and behold—there's insubordination steaming from the western division—the lowly Denver Nuggets whacked the league-leading Anderson Packers for the second consecutive time last night, 76-69, for their fifth win in 32 starts.

The season-long doormats for almost every National Basketball Association team this season climbed to within two games of escaping the cellar and dropped Anderson to six percentage points of relinquishing their lead to Indianapolis.

Syracuse Wins The eastern division leading Syracuse Nationals won their 20th game in 30 starts by beating Tri-City, 82-73, to keep their six-game lead over New York intact.

The Knicks led by Connie Simmons' 21 points belted Waterloo, 82-70.

Baltimore upset Rochester, 74-71. Sheboygan surprised Minneapolis, 85-82, and Fort Wayne edged St. Louis in the other NBA games last night.

Hank's And VFW Win League Games

Hank's A.C. and VFW 315 were winners in games in the District Basketball league at the Shelby floor in Ellwood City Thursday night.

Hank's defeated the Wampum Merchants 53-22, to hold their lead. Chuck Rea was high scorer with 15 points, followed by Wolford and J. Janacome with 11. Marich and Seala paced Wampum with 10 points apiece.

VFW 315 defeated the North Side team of Ellwood City, 41-39. Procopio of the Vets was high scorer with 18 points.

County Principals Discuss Program

Different Phases Of Elementary Education Curriculum Discussed Thursday

At the monthly meeting of the Lawrence County Principals' Association, held Thursday evening, in the offices of County Superintendent John C. Syling, discussion was continued on the elementary grades curriculum as outlined by the state.

Mrs. Dorothea Black, of the Shenango-Taylor joint school discussed creative art; and Mrs. Gertrude Foster, of Neshannock Township Consolidated school discussed reading. After their presentations, there was a general discussion on these two topics.

The next meeting of the association will take place on Thursday evening, February 2, when discussion of the elementary curriculum will be continued.

It may be old-fashioned to say that a football player should be able to hold his own defensively or on the offense, but that still makes for a more interesting game of football.

A Washington & Jefferson College publicity department survey indicated playing on the home court is a 9.17 advantage in a college basketball game.

New Bill Would Increase Penalty For Sex Perverts

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(INS)—An ex-prosecuting attorney in Congress will introduce in the House today a bill providing 10-to-20 years imprisonment for sex perverts.

Rep. Chelf (D-Ky.), said he will introduce legislation to bring sex criminals who flee across state lines within the scope of the Federal Fugitive Act.

The legislator asserted that Congress must halt the rash of sex crimes which have horrified the nation.

He declared: "This legislation, if enacted, would greatly reduce the number of sex crimes rampant throughout the country. It would permit Federal authorities to prosecute sex offenders who commit a sex crime in one state and flee to another state to avoid sentence or escape public censure."

FRUIT TREE PRUNING AN ALL-WINTER JOB

Pruning of fruit trees can be started this month and continued until the work is completed. First on the list should be apple, cherry and pear trees, grapevines and brambles, such as raspberries and bush fruits. Peaches can wait until about February 1, unless the acreage is of such size that the job could not be completed in time if started at that late date.

Non-bearing trees should receive a light pruning designed to train the framework, while bearing trees are pruned with the aim of producing high-quality fruit.

The pruning should open up the tree to permit light penetration for efficient leaf development and functioning and to enable thorough spray coverage.

A general thinning over all the trees should be practiced, but in the case of older trees which have attained considerable height, they should be trimmed to lower their height, thereby facilitating satisfactory spray coverage, and at the same time making thinning and harvesting easier and lowering the cost of production.

START SOME EARLY CHICKS
A surplus of eggs in the late winter and spring and a shortage of eggs from midsummer to fall indicates the need for changes in egg production according to seasons to supply the markets.

This can be done by including so-called early or "cold weather" chicks in plans for 1950. Such a program makes it possible to:

Distribute labor in brooding and make better use of equipment. Avoid spring production surpluses and supply more large and medium-sized eggs in the period of relative scarcity and highest market prices.

Improve meat supply by marketing cockerels before the bulk of this type of poultry comes on our markets; have hens available for market between Thanksgiving and Easter when there is a real demand for this weight and class of fowl.

Reduce mortality by eliminating influence of disease organisms that operate best in warm, damp spring and early summer weather; heavier early culling after peak production of early-hatched pullets laying heavily during period of high prices.

"Early Care of Chicks" is the name of a publication which is available upon request to the Agricultural Extension Office, 206 Post Office Building, New Castle.
